A Beginning Piano Book from a New Galaxy

10-10:30a.m. Book release party!

Hear the amusing story of why Ms. Cheroff started writing a piano book about bananas. Alison will introduce her concept of teaching through music, storytelling, artwork, composition, and a free and coordinate technique. The book, with her own watercolors, will be projected onto a screen.

10:30-10:45: Book signing and refreshments

10:45-12: Workshop: Wake Up Your Teaching Year!

This will be an interactive workshop, with willing pianists from the audience. Alison will teach a beginning lesson from her book, including how to incorporate coordinate movement from the very first lesson.

Alison Cheroff is a versatile educator and concert pianist who has taught piano to all ages and levels and performed extensively in the US and UK. A Taubman-trained teacher, Ms. Cheroff has given workshops at such places as the Crane School of Music, Steinway Hall in New York City, and the InterHarmony International Music Festival in Italy. Ms. Cheroff teaches how the fingers, hands and forearms move in sync with each other, without isolating, stretching or curling the fingers. Students can free themselves from limitations and pains such as tendonitis, and reach their musical potential with joy. Ms. Cheroff studied at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, and went on to New York City to study the Taubman Approach with Edna Golandsky. She holds her BFA from SUNY Purchase, and her MA from Hunter College. Ms. Cheroff is a former faculty member of the Taubman Institute of Piano at Amherst College and the Preparatory Division at the Mannes College of Music, NYC
